COUNT I: PATENT INFRINGEMENT

10. On July 23, 2002, the United States Patent and Trademark Office duly and legally issued the '802 Patent, entitled "Multicode Direct Sequence Spread Spectrum" after a full and fair examination. Wi-LAN is the assignee of all rights, title, and interest in and to the '802 Patent and possesses all rights of recovery under the '802 Patent, including the right to recover damages for past infringement.

11. The '802 Patent is valid and enforceable.

12. On January 25, 1994, the United States Patent and Trademark Office duly and legally issued the '222 Patent, entitled "Method and Apparatus for Multiple Access Between Transceivers in Wireless Communications Using OFDM Spread Spectrum" after a full and fair examination. Wi-LAN is the assignee of all rights, title, and interest in and to the '222 Patent and possesses all rights of recovery under the '222 Patent, including the right to recover damages for past infringement.

13. The '222 Patent is valid and enforceable.

14. Upon information and belief, HTC has been and is now infringing, directly and indirectly by way of inducement and/or contributory infringement, literally and/or under the doctrine of equivalents, the '802 Patent in this District and elsewhere by making, using, offering for sale, importing, and/or selling mobile handsets and/or other products compliant with the CDMA2000 standard and/or the IEEE 802.11 standards that fall within the scope of at least one claim of the '802 Patent.

15. Upon information and belief, HTC has been and is now infringing, directly and indirectly by way of inducement and/or contributory infringement, literally and/or under the doctrine of equivalents, the '222 Patent in this District and elsewhere by making, using, offering for sale, importing, and/or selling mobile handsets and/or other products compliant with the IEEE 802.11, IEEE 802.16, and/or Bluetooth 3.0 standards that fall within the scope of at least one claim of the '222 Patent.

16. Wi-LAN has no adequate remedy at law against HTC's acts of infringement, and, unless HTC is enjoined from its infringement of the Patents-in-Suit, Wi-LAN will suffer irreparable harm.

17. HTC has had actual knowledge of the Patents-in-Suit, and actual knowledge that its activities constitute either direct or indirect infringement of the Patents-in-Suit, and has not ceased its infringing activities. HTC's infringement of the Patents-in-Suit has been and continues to be willful and deliberate. HTC also has knowledge of the Patents-in-Suit by way of this complaint and to the extent it does not cease its infringing activities its infringement is and continues to be willful and deliberate.

18. HTC, by way of its infringing activities, has caused and continues to cause Wi-LAN to suffer damages in an amount to be determined at trial.

WHEREFORE, Wi-LAN prays for the following relief:
